1. In early November 1951, it was rumored among the construction workers of Waren Bauunion, who were employed at Puetnitz airfield, that an airfield was to be constructed in the woods south of Schwerin near Holthusen. Two hundred and fifty workers under the supervision of Engineer Luckow (fmu) were actually assigned by the Waren Bauunion to work in this area. They were temporarily engaged in clearing the wooded terrain. The field was allegedly to be completed by August 1952.
